  - Contributing guide: Docs do not currently make it clear that multiple features should be in separate PRs instead of multiple commits (which shouldn't be squashed on merge) in a single PR where feasible to make review and merging quicker and simpler. Also ensure we have it clarified that people should not create development/PR branches outside a fork. https://github.com/adoptium/adoptium/issues/203 for input to branching strategies and https://github.com/adoptium/adoptium/issues/204 on the squash/merge question. Please put any views in there
